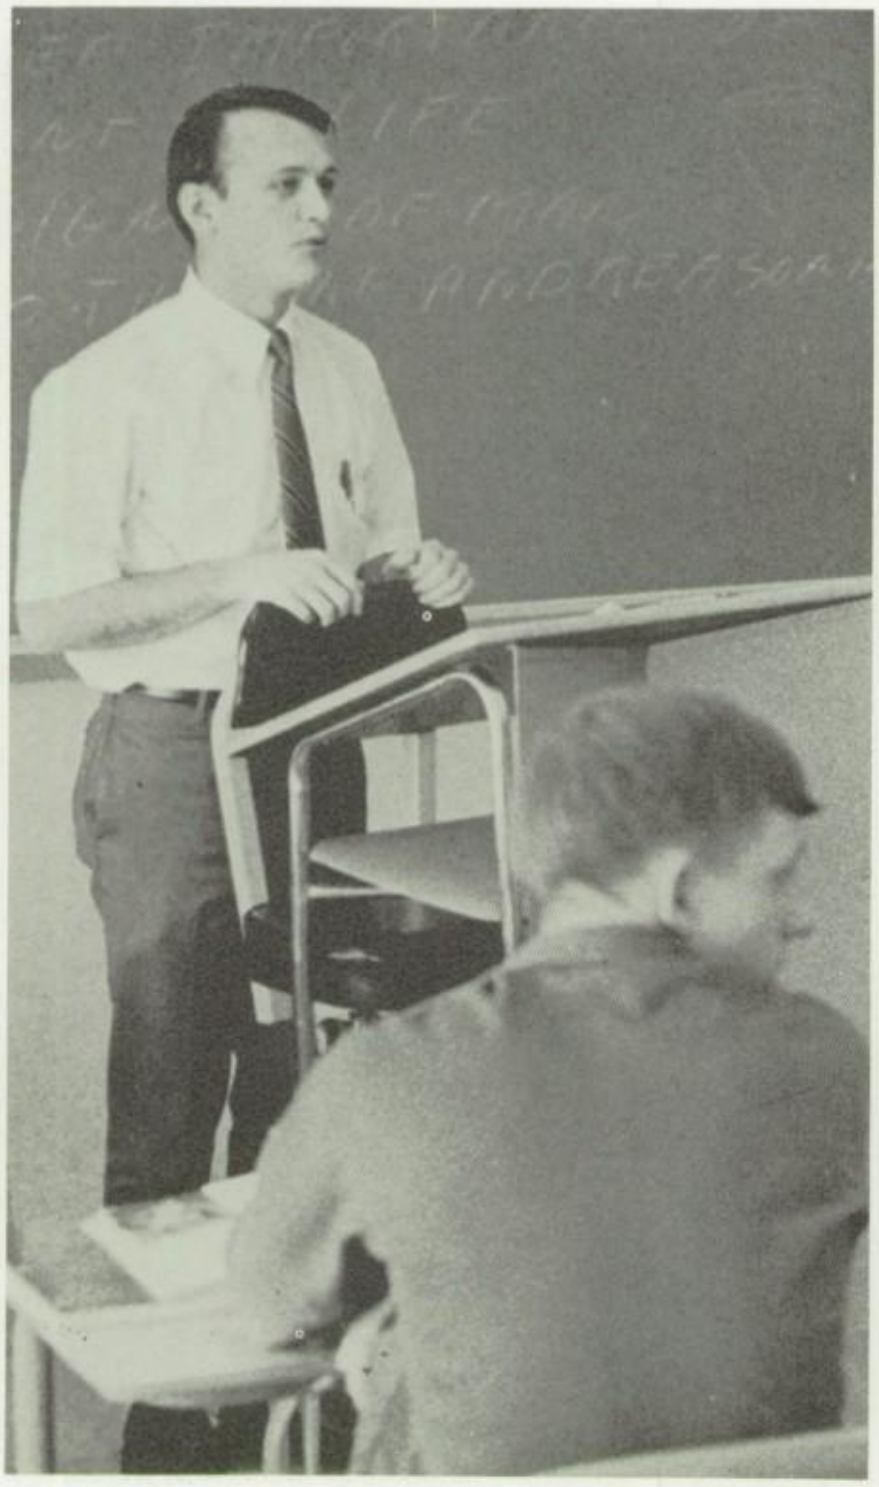
Life at THS helps to prepare for future



Activities, curricular and extra-curricular, were such this year that students and teachers sometimes seemed to live at the school. Teachers meetings, classes, senior play practices, and the GAA sleepout were a few of the many activities that went on around the clock.

Life at THS began with a beautiful autumn day for homecoming festivities and the football season. Next came winter and basketball season along with a good start in academic activities. Spring fever then arrived, followed by compensating spring activities and sunshine.

The days soon became longer and THS life shorter for the seniors as May twenty-seventh crept forward.

THS students respond to challenge of studies offered by curricular

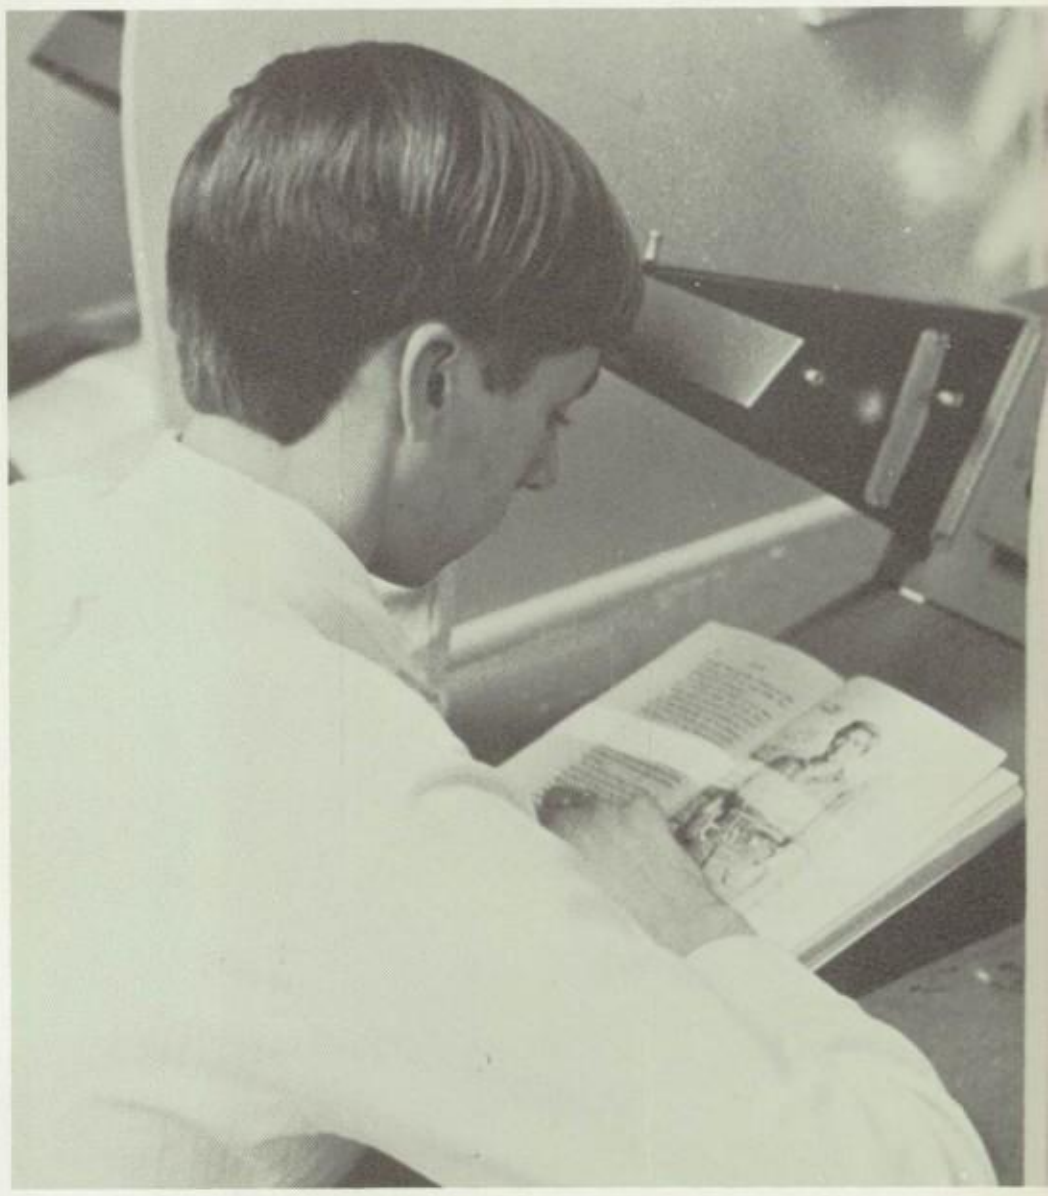
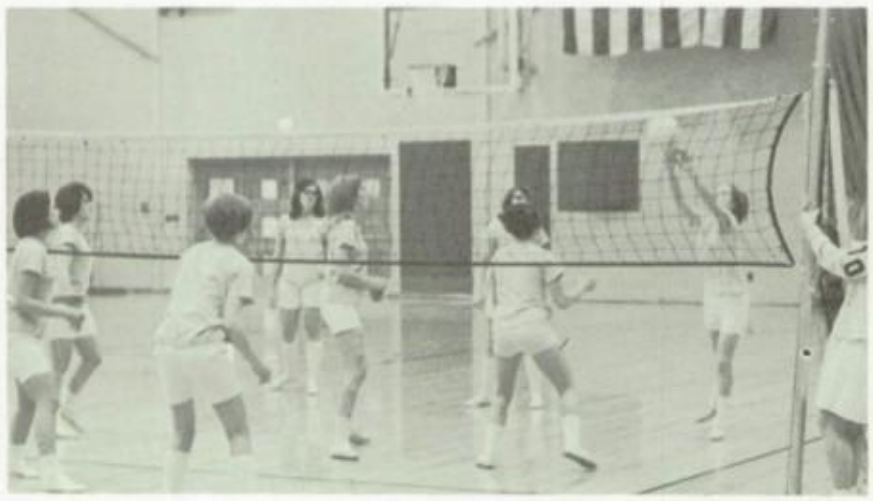
Tipton High School existed to prepare the student body for life after graduation. For this reason they offered a wide variety of courses, so that all students could select those which they felt were most beneficial to them.

For the first time, THS offered intensive office lab. This business course prepared girls for actual office experience. Not all courses were directed toward those students who sought employment after graduation. Many fine college preparatory courses were offered for those students who were planning to enter college.

The faculty and administration offered guidance and encouragement to all THS students throughout the school year.



Clubs, activities add variety to school days



The clubs and extracurricular activities added excitement and interest to the school year. All the clubs were interested in both service and money raising projects. These projects varied from the FFA popcorn sale to National Honor Society sending packages to servicemen in Viet Nam.

The student body participated in activities starting with Homecoming in the fall and ending with the Junior, Senior Prom in late spring. The THS band spent many long and hard hours in preparing for Miracles of Melody. The choral department also practiced hard to present the District Choral Festival for the enjoyment of the surrounding community.

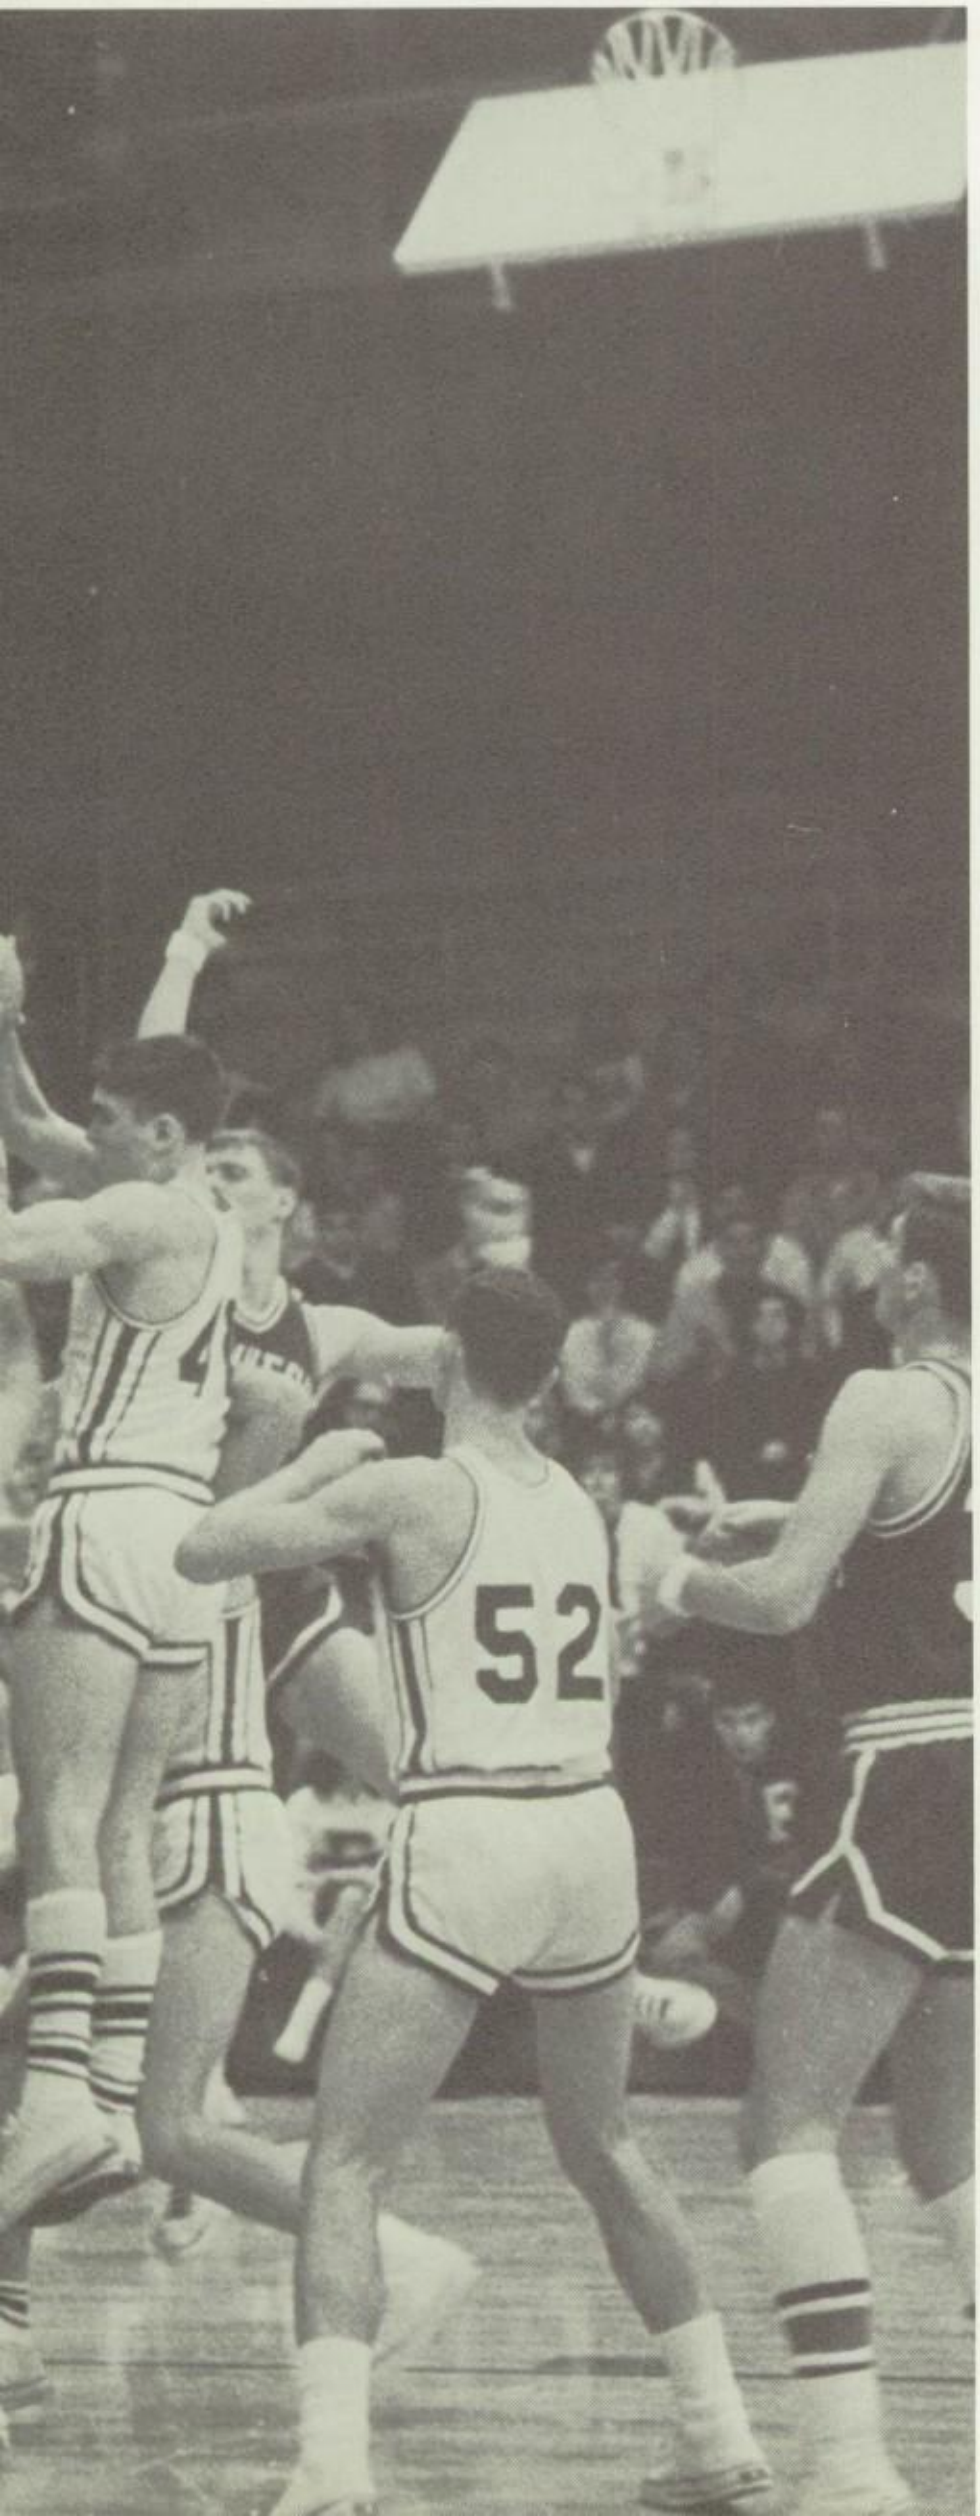
Tipton athletes seek to capture CIC all-sport trophy for third year



This year like the last few was a success as far as sports was concerned. The football team won the CIC title along with Wabash and Huntington. The coaches and students were proud of the Devils. The harriers proved once again to be one of the best by bringing home a sectional victory and placing well in the regionals. Basketball brought the usual hysteria. For some it meant hard work and heartbreaks by coming out on the short end. But experience is the best teacher. The Devils plan to come back and clobber the whole state next year. The wrestling team finally attracted the attention that they deserved. Larger crowds attended this year and they were rewarded by seeing the matmen carry away a CIC victory.

Spring brought golf, track and tennis. Each provided new experience wins and losses. To put a cap on the sports season, Coach Sherman and the boys showed everyone their stuff on the ball diamond. The Devils deserve a hand for this successful year.

Awards, recognition end academic year

As the school year closed, it brought many awards and great satisfaction to those students who strove for academic recognition.

Many school and local organizations rewarded the seniors in various ways. Phyllis Hannah was presented the annual DAR award for good citizenship. The Elks Scholarship was awarded to Carol Stoops. The Kiwanis Club chose Dan Riffe to be the recipient of their award. Many other awards were available to seniors. Delegates from the Junior Class were selected to attend Girls' and Boys' State.

Mike Wall won the praise of his fellow athletes by being chosen outstanding athlete of the year.

Administrators attentive to student needs

The administrators at Tipton High School worked together and completed another successful year of education. Mr. Rogers, the new principal, learned quickly the many responsibilities of his new position. Mr. Mitchell, the new vice-principal, became aware of the many activities of THS. Superintendent Guenther was kept very busy running all the schools of Tipton and keeping things going smoothly. The School Board made many decisions which enabled THS to have a great year.

During the course of the year many problems had to be solved and many decisions had to be made. Careers and futures were discussed and determined. Our counselors were always there to guide the students. They seemed to make those problems a little less difficult and the decisions a little easier to make.

PVE blends job training with academic work

An entirely new area at THS was the pre-vocational education program. Known by most of the students as PVE, it was a work-study program. Its main objective was to provide on-the-job training in vocational areas along with the academic course work. The four courses that were offered were work orientation, American history, occupational math, and occupational English. Mr. Bridge taught the math, Mr. Pearce, history; and Mr. Haley, English and orientation. The main objective of these courses dealt with a realistic practical application of the academic work. These courses were closely tied to a vocational curriculum.

PVE students earned credit while participating in a "learn by doing" atmosphere. The students could eventually be placed on a job one half day and go to school one half day. In this way, the student better knew what he wanted to do later in life.

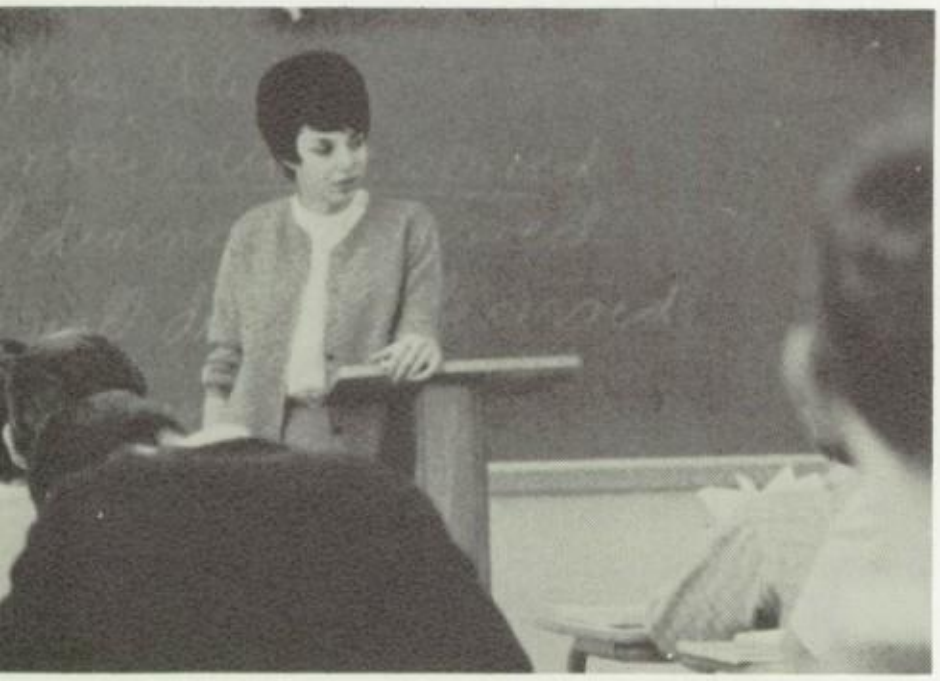
writing, increase language skills of learners



The English Department was the biggest department at THS. All students had to take at least three years of English. Through study of the language, students learned to communicate clearly. The students also learned to enjoy reading and understanding literature. The English Department offered a variety of subjects in which the student could broaden his background. Creative writing, great novels, journalism, debate, business English, and speech changed the regular course of grammar and literature into a more interesting field.

The reading lab was once again put into good use this year trying to help increase the students rate of reading. Most classes spent two weeks in the lab, going each day of the week. Much more was gained by going everyday instead of once a week as in past years. The lab helped college bound seniors extensively.

Math, science stimulate thinking processes

The Math and Science Departments at THS were quite active. Mr. Renie, who teaches Health, was added to the Science Department this year. All the science teachers direct their students to dig for facts and experiment on different scientific matters. In doing research and experimenting the student increases his own knowledge. There were over 500 science projects at the 1969 Science Fair. The projects reached out into all different branches of the vast science field.

The main objective of the Math Department was to develop fundamental mathematical concepts. A new course of Occupational Math has been added to the department. Mr. Bridge taught the course to prepare students for life with basic concepts. Some of the basic concepts were the use of money, the work week, and multiplication, division, addition, and subtraction. This class also used desk calculators to check math skills and hopefully to improve their skills. This math course was very successful in its first year.

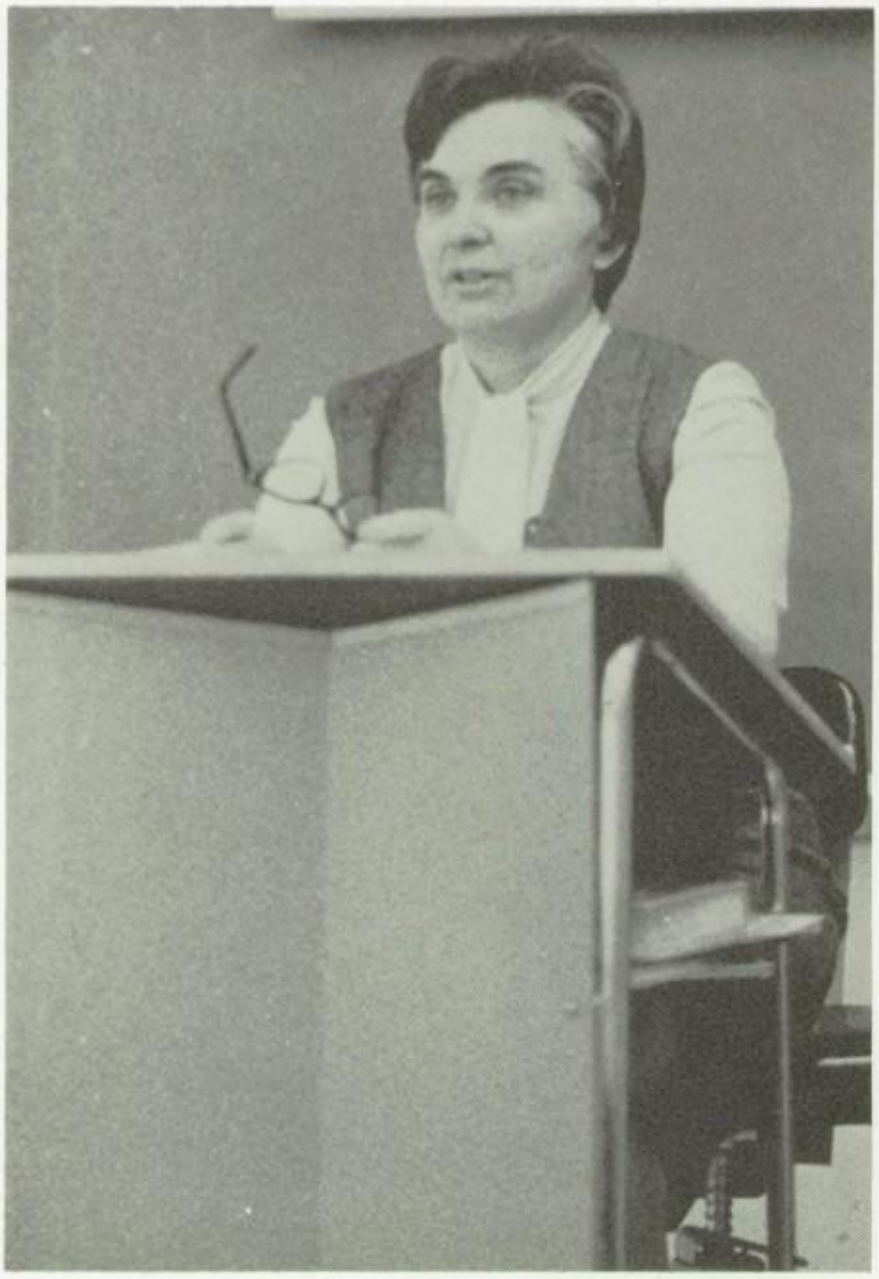
Social Studies widens students' horizons



The Social Studies Department is one in which students explore. This department utilized visual aids, news media, lectures, and field trips to produce a better understanding of domestic and foreign problems. THS students are young Americans and future voters, who face the challenge of looking at the past to improve the future. In the Social Studies Department, the students are offered the opportunity to find out about our ever changing world.

Through courses such as World History, U. S. History, Economics, Government, and Geography, students gain an insight into the procedures of our government and those of other times. Psychology and Sociology prepare the student for his role in society as a mature adult. He not only learns to understand other people, but becomes quite familiar with his own behavior.

Few school organizations displayed the style and versatility that the THS band produced all year long. Mr. Stan Good, the director, works with the students everyday to produce fine quality music. The main objective for the band students is to gain an appreciation of music through performance.

The Band started the year by marching and performing half time shows at the football games. The band participated in I.U. Band Day and 80% of the band students participated in the Solo and Ensemble Contest. Those students who returned from the contest with high ratings certainly gave honors to THS. The Pep Band, consisting of 32 students, played at the basketball games.

Another important sector of the band was the team of Majorettes. The Majorettes performed pre-game salutes at all home basketball games. They were also an important part in the elaborate floor shows of Miracles of Melody. The Majorettes prepared for United States Twirling Assoc. contests throughout the year.

Band members Donna Ploughe, Rhonda Plake, and Joy Jackson practice so they can master the music for Miracles of Melody.

Phys. Ed. broadens knowledge, capacity

The routine of changing, activity, showering, and dressing is characterized by all gym classes. The Physical Education department strives to help develop the "total" student by developing him physically as well as mentally. Group activities involving teamwork help the student develop sportsmanship.

The new Tipton swimming pool, which is only a few yards away from the school, allowed a new sport to be added to the P. E. curriculum. Students are offered two weeks of swimming per semester. The swimming made a "cool" change in the department.

Rings, horizontal bars, climbing ropes, and tether ball were some of the new equipment added this year.

Languages instill interest in other countries

The Foreign Language Department aided the students in developing dexterity in pronouncing foreign words and reading and translating Latin stories. One acquired good habits of language study and increased his knowledge of English. For the first time this year, Spanish was being taught in Junior High School. Another addition to the department was fourth year Latin. The study of any foreign language enabled the student to appreciate the historical and cultural significance of the various civilizations. The student realized how these civilizations have contributed to civilizations of today.

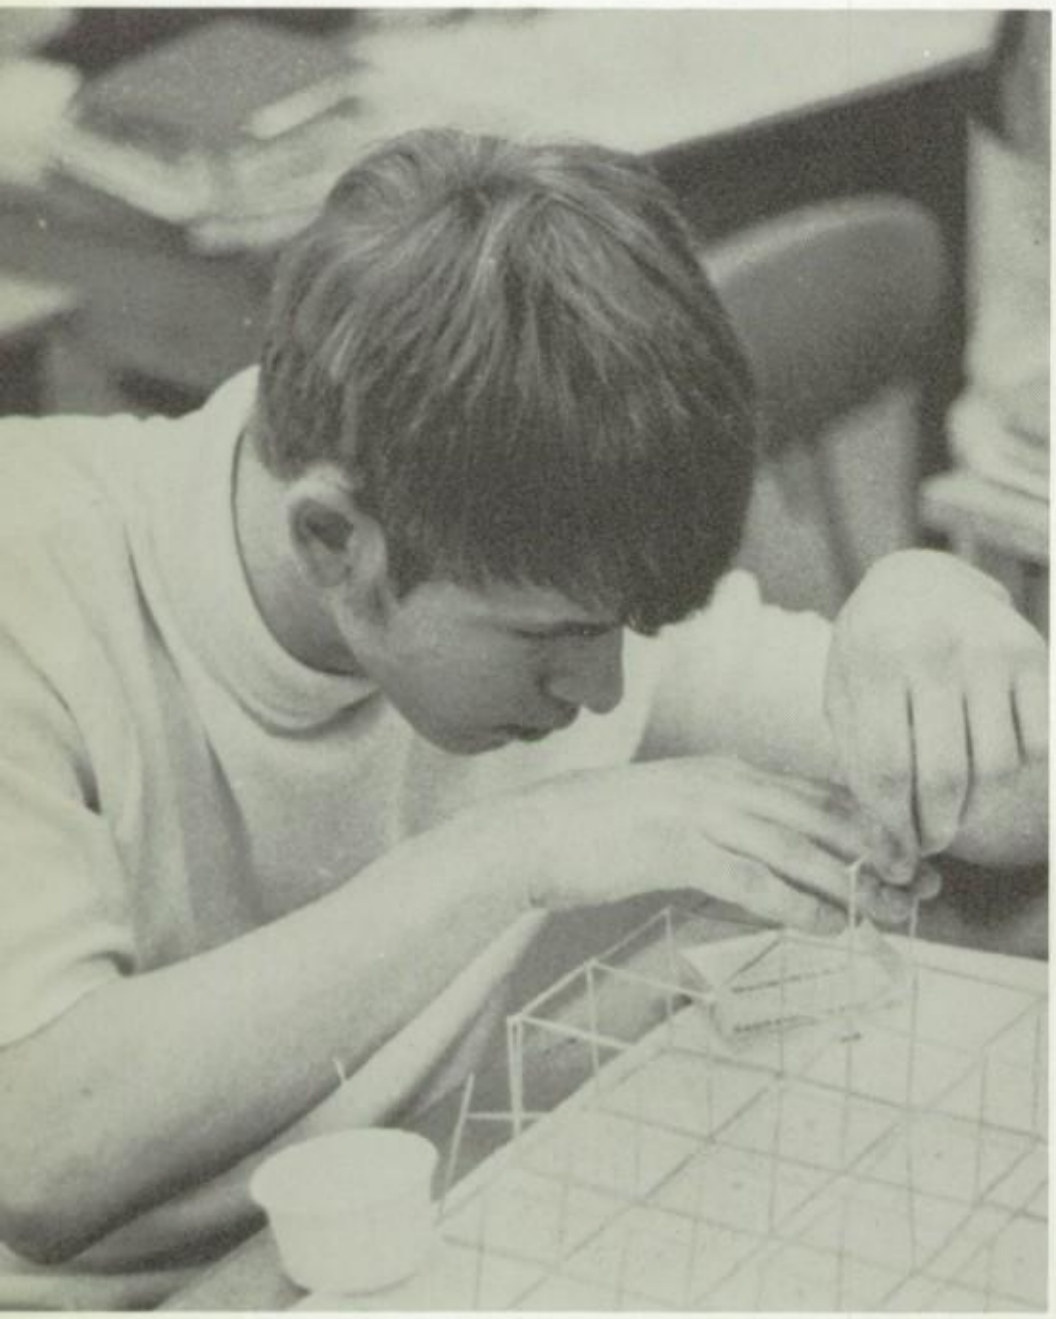
Art, Chorus students seek to perfect talent



The Art and Choral Departments of THS are somewhat alike. In each, the student was allowed to create. The Choral Department enabled students to develop the skills necessary to produce good tones and the ability to sing in harmony with others. Many students of the chorus worked hard to sing in the Thanksgiving and Christmas programs. One of the big events in the choral department was the District Solo and Ensemble Contest. In this contest, participants practiced hours to receive a good rating. The chorus was quite active in the community. The big performance, their Spring Concert, was April 18.

A new objective in the Art Department was that advanced students were learning to choose their own projects. Whether he was beginning in art or was one of the advanced students, the student still had to use his own ingenuity and talent to produce a fine piece of art. Painting, designing, ceramics, and sculpture offered the student a wide field in which to develop his art ability.

Chorus students gather around the piano to practice. It is most important for students like these to practice together to harmonize with each other.

Three girls made the Industrial Arts Department a very interesting one this year at THS. The department worked to teach boys and girls the art of profitable use of leisure time and something about industrial procedures. What used to be called general shop was replaced by a general metals and plastics course. The department offered evening work sessions so that interested boys could work without the rigidity of the classroom.

The Agriculture Department strove to prepare students to make entry into vocations in agriculture, not just farming. The Ag Department acquired new tools and equipment on a planned sequence. Mr. Sharp was a new member of the Ag department replacing Mr. Wilson who left last year. Ag classes tried to make better men for tomorrows needs.

Homemaking girls work to improve skills

The Home Economics Department was a valuable area in academic life. Its main objectives were to prepare more efficient homemakers and to promote interest in careers in professional home economics. The Home Economics Department added new courses to their curriculum again this year. One course which was added was a course in pre-vocational education which better equipped these students with ways to get along in an adult-world environment and to begin to develop some proficiency in a certain field. Another new course that was offered during the second semester was a co-ed family living class. This was offered for the purpose of aquainting the boys, as well as girls, with ways and means for establishing a happy, healthy environment with their own families and the ones they will someday establish. The final new addition to the curriculum was a non-structured homemaking class which allowed the girls to work in their main interest areas of home economics.

An area which grew rapidly this year was the Business Department. The main objective of this department was to educate the students in various business and special vocations. An intensive office lab was added to the curriculum in an effort to prepare qualified students for initial employment in office jobs without need of post high school training.

Another course which expanded into an active part of THS life this year was the DCE program. Its membership grew to a total of twenty-eight members with more occupations involved, giving the students a greater opportunity to investigate new fields of vocations. Although it was called DCE, its name was changed to ICT-Industrial Cooperative Training. New and different equipment was used this year to help aid the students.

Mrs. Simmons and Mrs. Meyncke keep life at THS running smoothly. The secretaries had a great responsibility of keeping school records and files accurately. These two ladies spent many long hours trying to keep up with the busy activities. Each period they were assisted by two students who ran various errands.

The cooks are an important part of any school. They provided well-balanced meals each day for well over 700 students. In addition to the students at the high school, they served over 300 more at the junior high. They certainly had to plan to serve such a great number.

THS students can be proud of their school for the wonderful job the maintenance personnel have done. These people worked hard to keep our school clean and in good working condition. The maintenance staff was always at hand when any technical difficulty arose.

The bus drivers had a great responsibility of transporting students to and from their homes safely. Many of them volunteered to provide transportation for THS Devil boosters to the out of town ballgames. On different occasions, bus drivers took students on field trips.

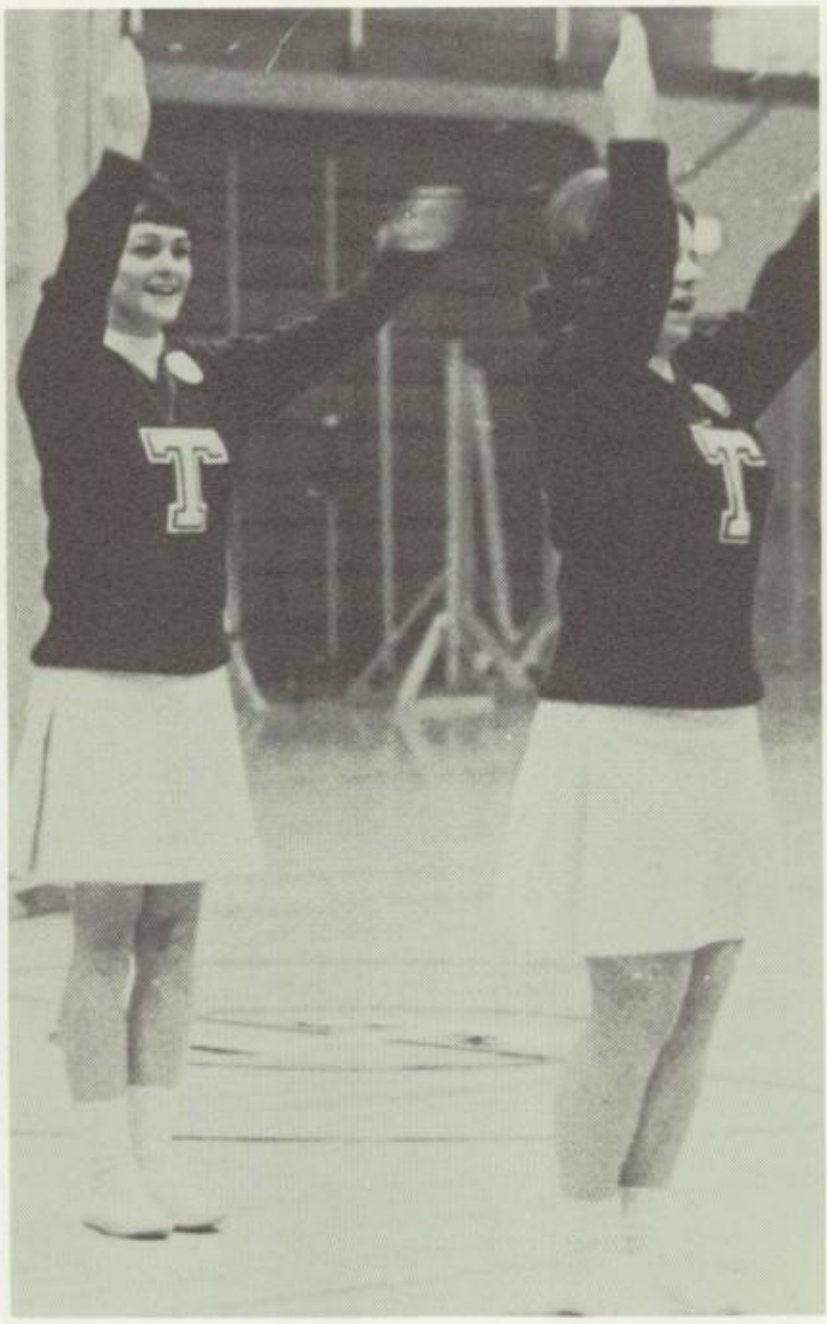
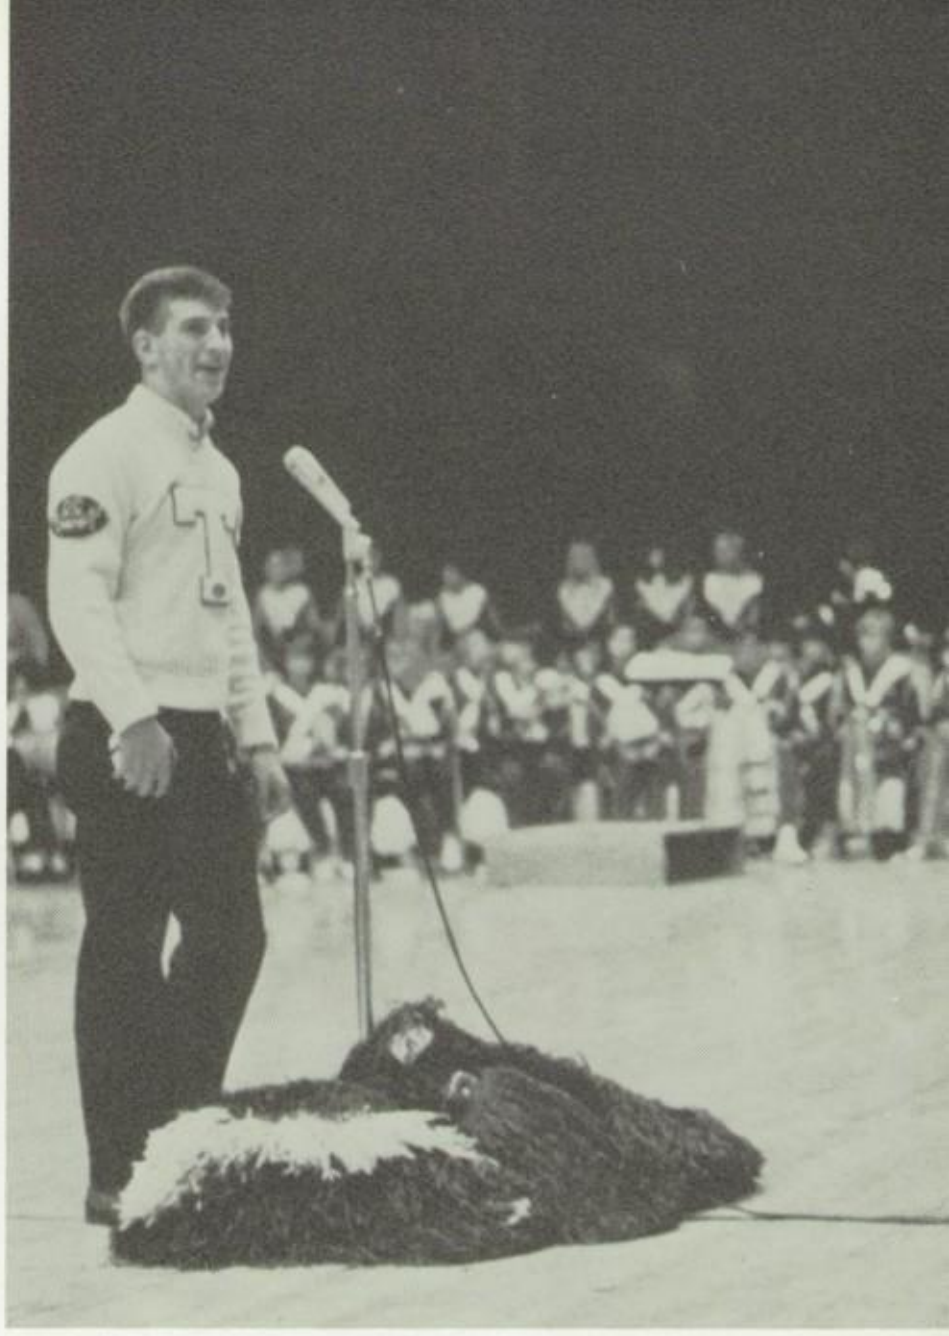
ACTIVITIES LIFE



Queen, winning team, parade display spirit on Homecoming day



As school settled down for a new year, plans were being made for Homecoming festivities. With the help of Student Council and Parade Marshall, Mike Harper, the numerous committees began their preparations.

On October 11, at 2:00 P.M., the entire student body assembled in the gym for the pep session. The rousing skits and the festive decorations helped create a feeling of excitement which boosted spirit for the game.

The Homecoming parade found beautiful weather and decorative floats. The Devils captured a Homecoming victory plus a CIC win in the defeat of the Elwood Panthers 35-0. The half-time ceremony was highlighted by the band and introduction of Queen Susie Thornton and her court. The dance that followed was the final touch.

by demonstrating enthusiasm, spirit, agility

Displaying the three V's of cheerleading, which are vim, vigor, and vitality, the freshman, B-team, and varsity cheerleaders spent many long hours of practice in perfecting their cheers and chants.

In June the varsity cheerleaders attended cheerleading camp at Vincennes. There they learned the latest techniques for instilling spirit in the student body.

The training they received at camp plus the three V's helped the cheerleaders and the student body to lead the Blue Devils to victory.

Research, procedure expand scientific minds

The Tipton County Science Fair was open to all area grade school, junior high and high school students who wished to participate. The fair provided an opportunity for students to probe further into the many areas of math, biology, chemistry, architecture, and health.

The Science Fair was held on March 6 and 7. The judging took place on Thursday evening prior to the public viewing on March 7. The science students were required to be present during the judging to answer questions which related to their projects.

Friday evening at eight o'clock the eighth annual awards program was held honoring those students who displayed winning projects. The first, second, and third place winners of the Junior Division were Janet Riffe, Marsha Gaugler, and Jerry Acres, respectively. In the Senior Division the third place award went to Morris Stillabower and second place went to Dan Riffe. Mark McQuinn took first place honors with his project entitled "The Artificial Kidney."

The winners of the local fair later advanced to the Lafayette Regional where they competed with county winners from other parts of the state.

THS students strive for peaceful relations

The second annual World Friendship Day was held February 10 with 53 foreign exchange students attending. The day began with registration and then the students were assigned to guides with whom they spent the day.

The rest of the school day was occupied by class visitation, touring the school, and meeting and talking to THS students. In the afternoon, the aliens displayed their many and varied talents at a convocation.

After school an informal gathering was held in the cafeteria. The visitors then went home with their guides until time to return to the school for the banquet that evening. Entertainment was provided by the Counterpoints from North Central High School. The final touch to an enjoyable day was the closing remarks made by the foreign exchange students.

Dreamland comes alive with sound of music

The THS Band presented their eighth annual "Miracles of Melody" on April 24 and 25 with crowds of over 2000 people in attendance. This year the spectacular variety show featured two solos performed by seniors Dave Losey and Greg Martin. The extravaganza also displayed unusual floor shows which made effective use of black lighting and original costumes. Two new areas of entertainment, selections by the Stage Band and a narration presented by Steve Dunham, were also introduced. Director Stan Good once again did a fine job in directing the bandsmen as they played their well-rehearsed numbers.

The weeks of practice that went into the outstanding production proved successful as the band held their audience enrapt from the first chords of the opening number through the last strain of the traditional finale, "Stars and Stripes Forever".

Determination proves beneficial in class play

Tipton High School's gymnasium was the scene for the 1969 Senior Class play "Thunder on Sycamore Street."

"Thunder on Sycamore Street" was a drama in three acts. The action centered around an ex-convict and his family after they moved into an upper-middle class neighborhood. The other families who lived on Sycamore Street tried to remove the unwelcome intruders by ridicule and harassment. In the end however, justice prevailed when the natives were forced to their senses and realized the wrong they had done.

Many hours of work and determination went into the play, not only on the part of the cast, but also the committees of make-up, publicity, lighting, set and stage, and the usherettes. The cooperative efforts of all these committees helped to make this year's Senior play one of the best ever presented at THS.

'Paradise Isle' sets Hawaiian atmosphere

A bit of Hawaii was brought to life through the theme Paradise Isle for the 1969 Junior-Senior Prom. Palm trees, floating ponds of flowers, grass shacks, flower leis, and Hawaiian dressed servers helped to create the Hawaiian atmosphere. The highlight of the dance was the crowning of the king, queen, and court.

After the prom the juniors and seniors viewed the show "The Thomas Crown Affair." To finalize the evening the students returned to the 4-H building to be entertained by the junior class parents who provided food, drinks and plentiful doorprizes and presented Dick Albers.

Graduation terminated high school life for the class of 1969. The long awaited event brought with it the realization of new goals and responsibilities.

Class members Jane Smith, Greg Martin, and Dennis Owens presented the baccalaureate address which was concerned with self-analysis and evaluation and achievement of personal goals. Dr. Wesley Haines, president of Franklin College, spoke at commencement exercises. His presentation entitled "For the Rest of Your Life" was the senior's last link with high school.

Council links students with administrators

The 1968-69 Student Council started a busy year with the organization of homecoming. In February another successful World Friendship Day was held with 53 foreign exchange students attending. By sponsoring student convocations, helping with Sectional decorations, and participating in exchange programs with Wabash and Frankton the Council had another prosperous year.

Meeting every Tuesday the Student Council members discussed such issues as school spirit, student participation and discipline problems which were encountered throughout the school year.

They finished a year of hard work by holding a Bus Stop program on July 6-9; the bus carries 40 foreign exchange students and 2 chaperones. The trips last from 2 to 4 weeks and each bus makes between 7 to 10 community stops. Each stop is from 2 to 4 days long.

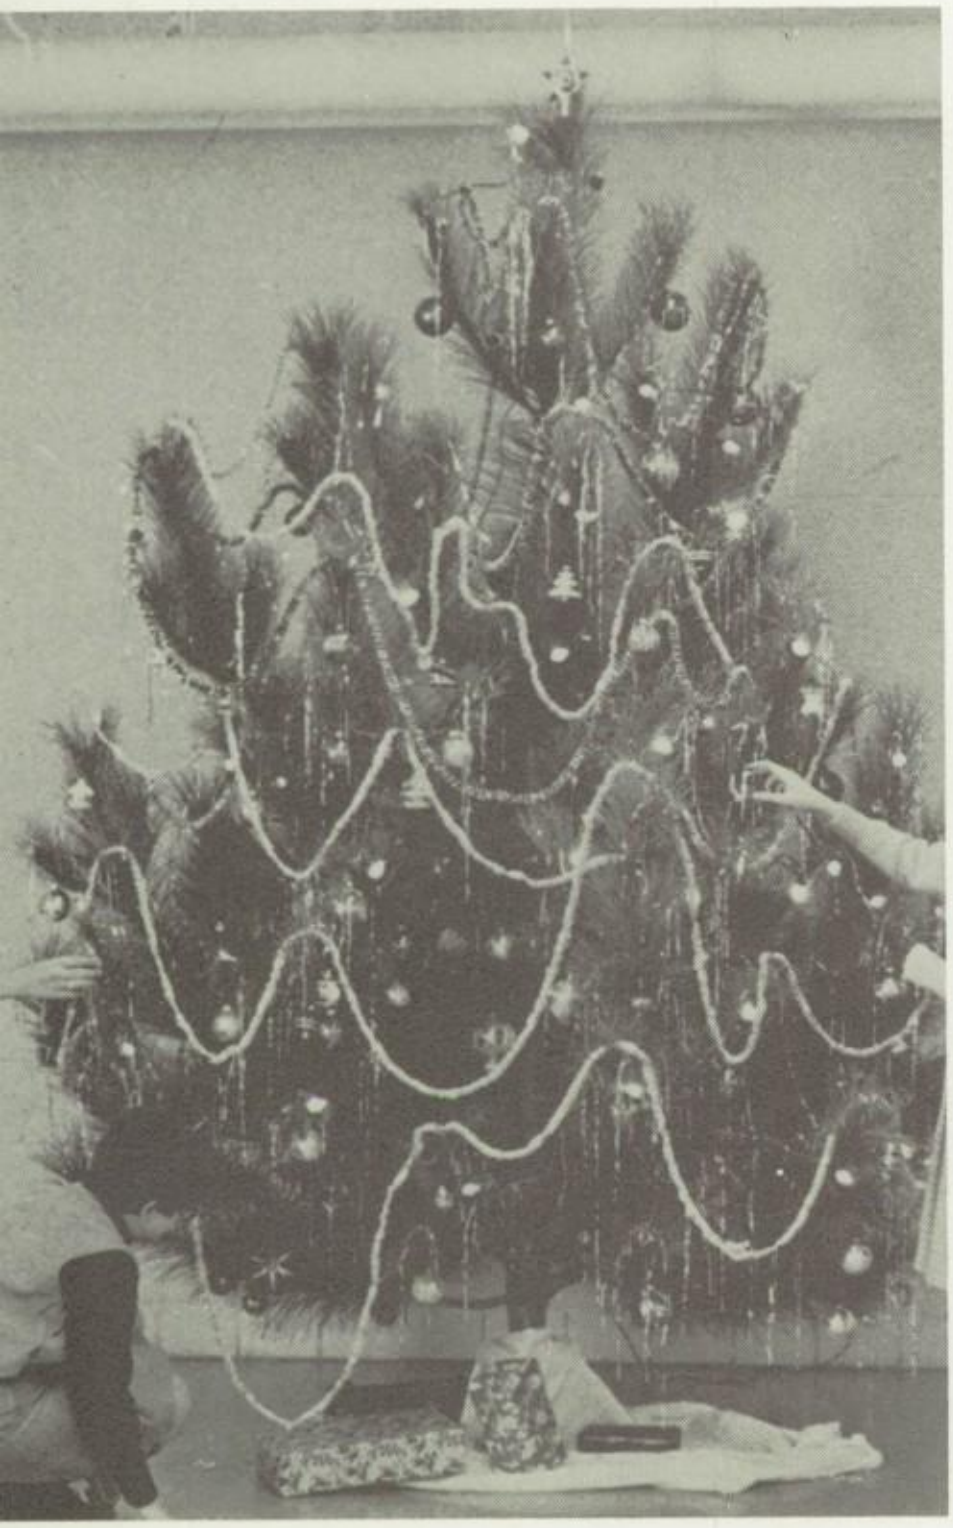
Honor Society stresses role of scholarship



Each year the Tipton High School Chapter of National Honor Society inducts students who demonstrate scholarship, leadership, character, and service.

During the school year the members undertook service and money-making projects to boost their treasury. During the fall, the club sponsored an after-the-game dance and a chili supper after the Holiday Tourney. The club collected items from the student body to send to men who are stationed in Viet Nam.

The highlight of the year was the introduction of new junior members. Before they were considered active members, they held a picnic for the senior members.

T-Men sponsor annual trip, honor boys skilled in all sports

T-Men, which is sponsored by Mr. Sherman and Mr. Bridge, is representative of all boys who have gained a varsity letter in Tipton's fine athletic program.

The T-Men organization took its annual trip to Cleveland where they attended a professional football game, between the Los Angeles Rams and the Cleveland Browns. T-Men had two money making projects, an after game dance was held and the Chili supper which the organization sponsors every year. This year the dance was held after the Elwood game which was enjoyed by students of both schools. Also preceding the last home ballgame the chili supper was held and was a huge success this year.

The T-Men also assist the faculty in ushering at all the home football and basketball games.

Active GAA girls participate in sports

Under the second year of new sponsorship, the GAA of Tipton was one of the most active clubs of the school.

A girls sports program was further developed from the preceding year. Most of the girls who were in sports for the first time showed promise and surprising skill.

The GAA Ball was held in April with the following court: Queen Debbie Wallace, Princesses Jan Hancock, Cathy Bouse, Kay Kemper, and Kris Zehner.

Pep club, cheerblock improve appearance

Pep Club worked to bring out sports spirit this year. THS has always been commended for its spirit and sportsmanship; but, we felt there was room for improvement. Jeff Campbell and Connie Thomas used their extra time in school making decorations every week for the ball games; and, during Homecoming and sectional weeks, they worked overtime to create extra special effects. Committees decorated the town and school for these two events. Crepe paper flying down the street, falling posters, and mopping spilled paint on the floor did not discourage the members from doing their best to create spirit by decorating. A spirit tree and over-all spirit competition between the classes were firsts for THS. The seniors showed the best spirit throughout the sectional period.

Cheerblock members gave a great deal of their time and patience to back the basketball team. A standard outfit was decided on this year with which letters made welcome each opponent. Perfection was the goal of the block; uniformity was the key word.

The whole block sighed with relief at times when Mrs. Tunmer nodded with satisfaction.

vith work, dedication

What luck! Three whole days of sledding, snow fights, and leisure time were in store for the students at THS. But for the annual staff, there was no fun in their immediate future. A deadline was coming up at the end of the week, and they had to get down to business. The photographer and some editors ran around town snapping pictures of anything they saw. Back in the cozy home of Mr. and Mrs. Phil Hoke were part of the staff members with baggy eyes, working to meet the first deadline.

Publishing the high school newspaper is one mad rush from the first week of school until the final issue is put to bed in the spring. Lots of credit goes to the newspaper staff for putting out the Devil's Doin's. In order for the staff to meet its deadlines, staff members spend much time collecting information to publish reports on sports events and special happenings. Producing a fine paper takes time as well as money. Selling advertisements to local establishments offers the perfect chance to gain money for staff expenses.

Homemakers sponsor needy family, children

Future Homemakers of America was probably the greatest thing that ever happened to the needy family that they sponsored at Christmastime. These girls worked very hard to gather gifts for their service project. The club also sponsored a high school girl in India this year. These service projects were typical of the girls in FHA.

Marilyn Naden, president, was District Reporter and a presiding officer at the district meeting.

Money-making projects during the year were a bake sale and a cookbook sale. The club also sponsored an after-game dance.

Activities which the club held during the year included initiation of new members in November followed by a Christmas party in December. The club honored the teachers during FHA week. A Mother's party and installation of new officers was held on May 15.

FFA fosters rural, agricultural leadership

The purpose of FFA was to develop competent aggressive, rural and agricultural leadership, and also to promote cooperation and citizenship.

The Tipton chapter expanded to include more activities. More judging events were stressed and emphasis was placed on each member's participation.

This year the chapter initiated 38 new members at their formal initiation on November 23. Other activities of the organization included attendance at the National Convention in Missouri in October and the all school livestock judging contest which was supported by many THS students. In March the outstanding members were honored at the annual awards banquet.

Future teachers mold minds, gain experience

Future Teachers of America was formed to prepare students for the teaching profession.

Seniors, if they chose, could become exploratory teachers. This was very beneficial to the club. Money making projects were a dance which was very successful and the sales of booster badges for the sectional.

In February, at a night meeting, a guest speaker talked to the club about teaching the physically handicapped. The club took a trip to Crossroads Rehabilitation Center in Indianapolis. This gave the students an insight into the problems facing the mentally and physically handicapped.

FTA gave a scholarship to an FTA senior continuing his formal education.

These students were able to experience different classroom situations either at the local grade schools or at the junior high. Seniors took advantage of the opportunity to find out what teaching was really all about. The teachers were very helpful in allowing our students to teach their classes for one hour each day.

Major goals of the Health Careers Club included promoting interest in personal and community health and encouraging girls to have a better understanding of the field of health.

The club, named formerly FNA, was changed to Health Careers in order to provide a better understanding of the scope of the club purposes.

Some highlights of the year were initiation in October, the Christmas party, and the dinner party for seniors which took place in May.

Club activities included studying the various careers open to girls and having guest speakers come in to acquaint the club members with new opportunities opening up in the world of technology.

Broadway play ahead for drama students

Drama Club started off a busy year of activities with the presentation of "The Mouse That Roared." The three act play proved to be quite a success, with the THS drama members showing their skills as actors and actresses.

As a project, Drama Club elected to sell candy so that the money raised could be used to supplement the treasury of Thespians, which is an honorary club for some Drama Club members who attain enough points to be eligible for membership. For about two years it has been hoped that Thespians could attain money so that they could separate from Drama Club and this year it was achieved.

THS salutes members of Drama and Thespians Club for their contributions to extra-curricular activities for the 68-69 school year.

Sunshine Society overflows with friendship

"Others" was the motto and "Helpfulness and kindness to others" was the purpose of the Sunshine Society. Busy, busy, busy could also have been the motto for last year's club. These girls handed out favors for the teachers on six holidays, sponsored a party for the underprivileged children, had a Halloween party, a pitch in supper, a pizza party, and many, many others. The biggest event was the Ideal Ladies banquet, which was held on May 1. The girls honored their mothers and their ideal mothers at a pitch in dinner.

A unique prerequisite for the club this year was that every girl had to learn the Sunshine creed and song before they could enter the club.

Jr. Musicale plans activity for students

Jr. Musicale members were interested in promoting musical culture in Tipton High School. To join Jr. Musicale a student had to audition on an instrument or by singing before the club.

In the spring the club went to the County Rest Home and sang to the elderly people. This was an appreciated gesture by the Jr. Musicale.

Science Club coat check provides funds for annual campout

Science Club met twice each month to make plans for both work projects and social activities. They earned money by sponsoring a coat check at each home basketball game. This money was used to defer costs of the spring campout and a trip to Wright Patterson Airforce Base.

The club continued to increase the size of their tree nursery by planting 500 new pine trees. The George Cline family also gave the club a log cabin, which the club was in the process of restoring. After it was restored, it was utilized as an indoor nature center by all schools in this corporation.

At the night meetings professors from different colleges spoke on varied topics. By the end of the year, many fields of science had been explored.

During the Science Fair, the club was responsible for setting up the tables and the officers distributed ribbons and medals to the winners.

FBLA members plan active part in future

Future Business Leaders of America acquaints the members of the organization with the way work is carried on in the business world. FBLA opened a busy year of activities with a mum sale and the building of a float, which greatly added to THS' Homecoming festivities. Business students made a colorful display in Danners' window for National Education Week demonstrating various business skills. Next FBLA began their annual project of selling cards, stationery, wrapping paper, and various novelties in order to raise money for the club's annual trip taken by the members, on which they visit business establishments. The sponsor and members attended the National Convention and the State Convention and entered an exhibit in these respective conventions.

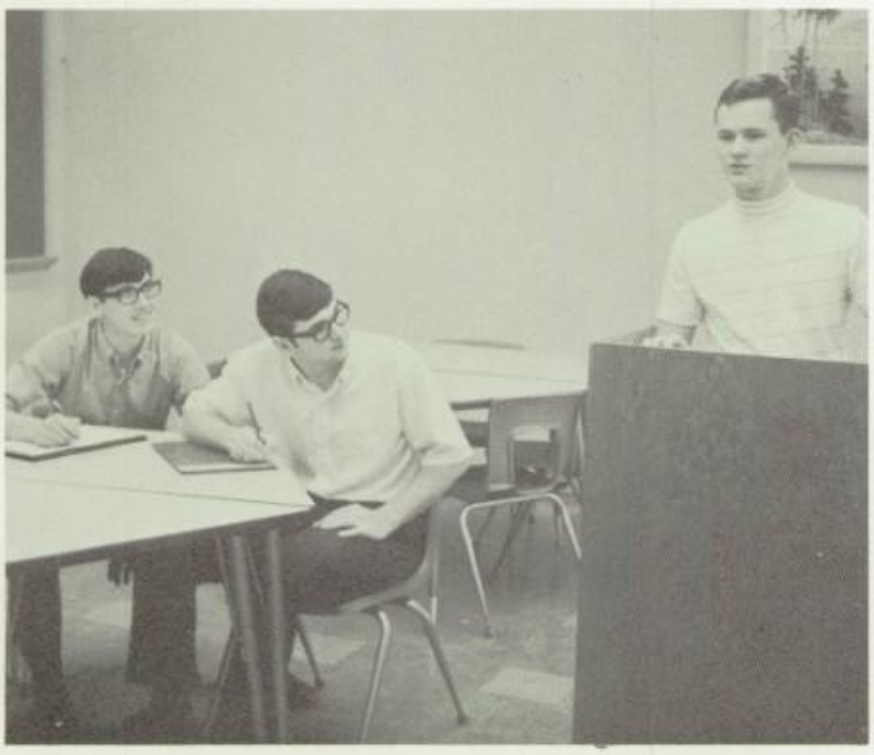
The first impression upon having walked into the library on a typical day was one of quietness and of the atmosphere of study; but, the library was also a scene of much activity. Students checking out books, reading, studying, and using reference books went on throughout the day.

Behind the scenes the librarians were busy working to keep the library in tip top shape. Each year many new books are added, old books repaired, and magazines are received monthly, making it possible to find information on any subject.

Debate creates interest, competitive spirit



This year's club members spent long hours researching their topic—resolved, Congress should establish a system of compulsory military service by all citizens. While competing against other high schools from central Indiana and under the supervision of Mr. Wade, the team practiced debate procedure and discussed new material each day during the sixth period. Throughout the year the debators attended several meets and proved their skills as good competitors. This club provided an excellent outlet for the talents of high school orators. The debators put forth great effort in finding a way to resolve their proposition. This same effort helped in gaining, for this year's debate teams, a sectional victory. This year's debate team added many victories to their slate besides that of a sectional victory. They had six other victories throughout the year and only two defeats. This was the first time Tipton debators had won a sectional victory. The THS students and faculty were proud to have been represented by this group.

DCE helps determine students professions

Diversified Cooperative Education was formulated to help the students gain knowledge and respect for the working world.

This club differed from other clubs in that it was made from a class in which every student held a job during and after school.

The club sold Devil Directories as a money making project along with sponsoring an after game dance. Throughout the year several conventions took place. An employer appreciation banquet was held in May to top off the year. At this banquet all the club members and their employers got together to talk about the past year and the future of the club.

Mechanically-minded boys work on engines, prepare open house

Industrial Arts Club got into the scheme of things this year at THS. They worked nights every two weeks on mechanical projects in which the boys were very much interested. The enthusiasm these boys created was a good example for other clubs.

The I.A.C. mass produced test tube racks for the Science Department which was very much appreciated.

Lectures, field trips, and a picnic were part of the plans during the year; but, the major project was the annual open house in spring. The boys worked weeks ahead to finish projects and clean the department. The open house was an experience for the boys and enjoyable to the guests.

Devils capture crown second year straight

The Tipton Blue Devils came through with their second conference championship in a row, tying Huntington and Wabash for the title. All three teams finished with six and one marks in conference play.

The Devils started off the season by initiating Kokomo Haworth 41-0. Tipton's first conference win was at the hands of Huntington, 21-13. Then the Devils came home and knocked off Hartford City, 20-6, for their second conference victory. The Satans saw their fourth win disappear as Madison Heights scored with seconds left on the clock to win, 19-14. The Devils got back on the winning track, scoring a 21-13 CIC victory over Muncie South. The Tipton Blue Devils took to the road to win three more games, after celebrating Homecoming with a 35-0 tromping over Elwood. The final game saw Wabash defeat the Devils 26-17, tying the Apaches and Vikings with the Satans for the conference championship.

All the boys need to be congratulated for their fine season as CIC co-champs, especially D. Ripberger, G. Harpe, M. Wall, D. Elston for making the All-Conference first team. Also Doug Legg and Mike Wall should be recognized as the honorable mention for the All-State team.

Harriers hold great strength through year

Tipton's cross country came through with another fine season. They finished the season with a seven and one record, losing only to Fort Wayne Elmhurst. The B-Team finished with a perfect six and zero record.

Tipton defended its title successfully by winning its second consecutive CIC championship at Peru. The "Harriers" placed third in the Hokum Karum, third in the Logansport Invitational and ninth at Shortridge. Tipton placed third in the sectional which enabled them to advance to the regional. Here they placed ninth, sending one qualifier to the state (Mike Floyd).

Mike Floyd, who led the Devils to their 3rd CIC championship, was the winner of the T-Blanket. Mike set a new school record at 9:47.0 for two miles and also a CIC record with a 9:49.0 timing in the championship meet. Mike finished first in the CIC championship, second in the sectional, fourth in the regional, and fourteenth in the state.

Devils show strength as season progresses

The Blue Devils started their 68-69 season off on the wrong foot, as the Clinton Central Bulldogs defeated the Devils 65-56. Tipton came home and beat Sharpsville-Prairie 62-57. The Devils played Muncie Burris and won their first conference game by a score of 62-38. The following night the Blue Devils played host to the No. 1 team in the state, the Marion Giants, who were too much for the Devils to handle as the score ended, Marion 50 and Tipton 29. Tipton then traveled to Wabash for their first conference loss as Wabash won 55-43. The Devils came home and were beaten by the Frankfort Hot Dogs 52-50 in overtime. The Blue Devils got back on their winning ways by winning their second conference game over Peru 62-60. Tipton's troubles continued as the Devils lost to a good Carmel team 89-58.

Tipton was host to its own Holiday Tourney. The Devils were defeated in the first game by Chatard 89-70, but the Devils beat Merrillville 53-43 in the consolation game. The Devils started off the second half of the season with a win over Clinton Prairie 55-52.

Young Devils show promise for coming year

The Blue Devils won their third consecutive game by beating Western 55-39. Tipton then lost two more important games that were decided in the final seconds, losing to Huntington 63-62 and Noblesville 54-53. The Devils lost their third game in a row as Fort Wayne Central defeated the Devils 66-53. Finally Tipton came through as the winner in a game with Hamilton Heights 63-59, in a double overtime. The Blue Devils suffered their third conference loss from their eastern rival Elwood 59-53; but, came back the following night to pick up its third conference win over Alexandria 48-44. Tipton finished its conference schedule, losing to Hartford City 57-51. The Devils final game of the season ended in defeat; Maconaquah won 74-67.

Tipton drew the Sheridan Blackhawks in the second game of the Sectional. This was the biggest margin for the Devils, winning 77-45. The Blue Devils came back Saturday with the goal of beating Carmel, but fell short with a 66-56 loss in overtime.

Tipton ended the season with a 9-13 record. This record does not indicate the Devils' ability, as one field goal could have given the Devils a victory in many games.

Tipton will lose only four of its ten lettermen through graduation: Mike Wall, Mike Hughes, Mike Fike, and Louie Hellman. Experience will play an important part in the Devils success next year. All lettermen gained their experience by starting in at least one game during the year. Darrell Elston led the Devils in many departments; also he made the All-Conference Team, Kokomo Area Team, and the Sectional team. Rodney Miller was chosen as Honorable Mention for the All-Conference Team. Tipton will be looking forward to a very successful season next year with much hard work and determination from the boys during the summer months.

Tipton matmen grab CIAC honors again

The Wrestling Team came through with its fourth consecutive winning season. Their only loss came at Noblesville. The matmen took first place at the Western Invitational and later Tipton was host to a seven school tournament and the second annual CIAC Wrestling Tournament. The Devils won both tournaments. Also, Tipton placed fifth in the sectional.

Tipton will lose many fine wrestlers through graduation; but the Devils have more boys who will be returning for another fine season.

Mike Floyd shatters two mile mark

Tipton's track team finished a fine season with a fourth place in the CIC. The year was ended in fine fashion as Mike Floyd set a new CIC two mile mark with a time of 9:51.4. The cindermen had probably the toughest season in the Devil's history, having meets with such teams as Huntington, Carmel, and Logansport.

The Devils won their third Muncie Relay crown in a row and placed fifth in the Marion Relays. Tipton will lose many fine seniors through graduation.

These great seniors contributed to most of the success of the cindermen this year. Much work will be needed to replace them in order to have another fine year.

Devil linksmen finish second in conference

Tipton's golf team had one of the most successful seasons the school has seen in many years, finishing with ten wins and four loses. The Devil putters finished second in the conference, only ten strokes behind a good Peru team.

The Devil putters had a well balanced team this season, with three lettermen back next year. Doug Legg and Ken Ehman alternated with the number one spot this year with Ken scoring 22½ points and Doug picking up 26 points. Bob Deal scored 20 points, while playing number three man and Tim Ehman, the number four man, scored 17½ points while gaining his second letter in the sport. Mike Hughes helped support the team by scoring 12 points.

Phil Welches is shown battling for a crucial point to win his set.

Racquetmen improve as season continues

Tipton's tennis team had a successful season this year. The team had depth with three lettermen from last year's squad. They finished the season with a record of four wins and seven losses, but the team did improve as the season progressed. The Blue Devil raquet men had a tough schedule this season playing such teams as Southwood, Attica, Fairmount, and Peru.

Two boys who didn't play tennis last year came out and filled the last two spots on this year's team. These boys were a great asset to the success of the team.

Mr. Bridge will have a rebuilding job as he will lose four of his five varsity players this year through graduation. The reserves had a very good season and many of the boys have shown great improvement, so next year's team should have a promising new look.

The Tipton Blue Devil Baseball team showed a fine season with the runs and batting averages. The boys started working out in May in the gymnasium and prepared the field for the upcoming games. Half of the boys on the team returned from the previous year, giving Mr. Sherman an advantage. The new-comers, though, showed great promise for the late summer and future years. The boys worked hard for a good attitude.

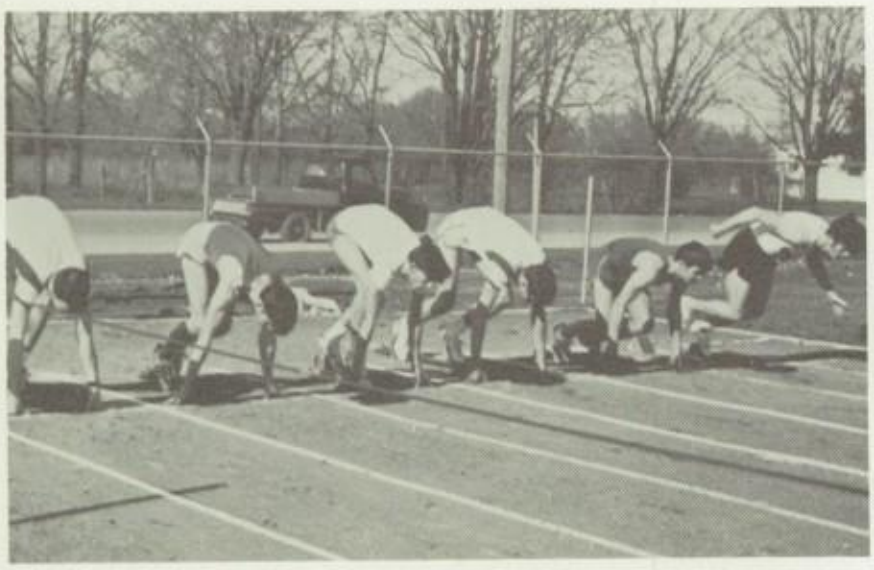
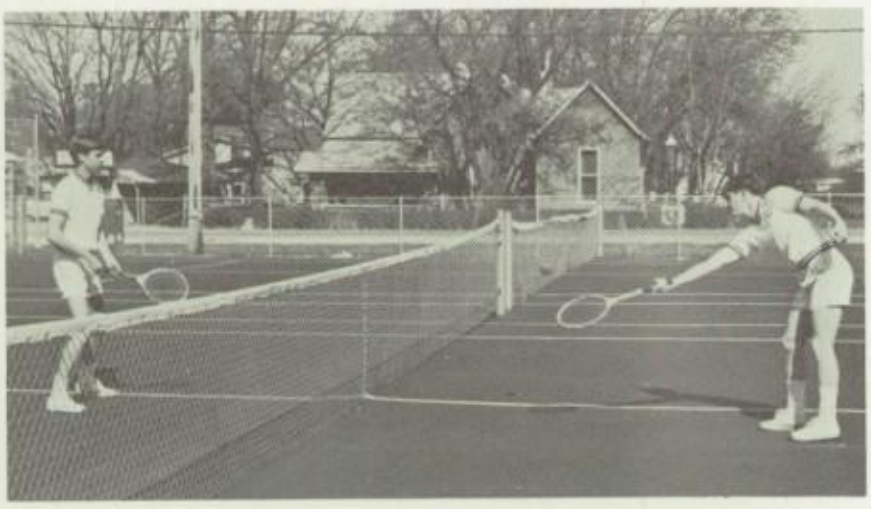
Life expands through athletic participation





Athlete or not, each student had an opportunity to grow through some type of participation in the athletic program. Students learned to work together while participating in Pep Clubs or other organizations.

Each major athletic event provided the students with an opportunity to show their spirit by decorating the school and community. Clubs built floats for Homecoming, and students decorated their homerooms during the Sectional Tourney.

Working together in groups helped students become more mature and helped them prepare for their adult life. Service and dedication were the only qualities necessary to qualify a student to enjoy these varied activities. All active participants grew mentally and physically.

GAA teams show leadership in state events

Tipton's Girls Athletic Association headed by Mrs. Burkhardt was very busy this year. They participated in such sports as badminton, volleyball, bowling, swimming and diving, gymnastics, and track.

The badminton team had a good year as Jan Hancock won the singles in the District and also placed fourth at the State Meet. Kathi Holbrook and Janie Burket placed second in the doubles at the District meet also.

In volleyball GAA had a winning season and placed third in the District meet. Swimming and diving also gave the organization excitement as Jan Hancock placed fourth in the State Meet in the diving area.

Thanks to many dedicated workers Tipton's GAA has developed into one of the states finest.

These Freshmen found the library an excellent place to study.

Frosh have first look at school activities

From various grade and junior high schools came students who combined to form the freshman class at Tipton High School. During the first few days at THS, freshmen were kept busy getting acquainted with their teachers, new classmates, new surroundings and learning about the high school's daily activities.

The class elected cheerleaders, officers and Student Council homeroom representatives under the direction of their sponsors, Mrs. Nash and Mr. Shoup. The freshman cheerleaders this year were Geraldine Cage, Linda Lambert, Mary Shock, and Cindy Yeary.

The freshman class was successful in the sports in which they participated. They ended their football season with an impressive 5-1 record.

As the freshmen are one step closer to the end of the ladder of education, they look forward to being bashful sophomores, sly and greedy juniors, and finally, sophisticated seniors. Now their accomplishments are few and their goals seem far away, but give them time, give them time . . .

These Sophs are having fun in the snow after school.

Amid chaos of events Sophs take stand

With the freshman year under their belt, the sophomores were onto the ropes and eager to take another step on their way to the top of their high school careers. Even though this year was not considered an outstanding year, the class of 1971 made themselves known.

Their first successes were carrying out plans for a successful Homecoming skit and, for the second consecutive year, winning first place in float competition with their clever and original float "Panthers Gotta Go."

Many members of the class joined Pep Club and cheerblock to cheer their teams onto victory. Laurel Zehner and Chris Stoker represented their class on the junior varsity cheerleading squad. Chris was also the sophomore class Homeshow representative.

Class representatives and sponsors met with several different company representatives to choose from many designs and sets for the class rings. A feeling of anxiety was expressed by many for their ring's arrival early next fall.

Junior class boosts treasury, class spirit

This year the juniors upheld the title of the busiest class at THS. For the first time the junior class began to feel like upperclassmen when they received their class rings which were (in their opinion) "the best ever."

During Homecoming week, the class worked faithfully on their skit and float. The contribution to the pep session was a THS version of the "Laugh-In." Juniors on the cheering squads were Debbie Kendall, varsity; Jane Powell and Debby Graham, junior varsity.

So that they might have enough money to make this year's prom the biggest and best yet, the juniors sold concessions at all home football and basketball games and track meets. They also operated the vending machines in the cafeteria. Even though no one enjoyed cleaning up the football field and gymnasium after the games, they did it in order to keep the privilege of selling refreshments.

All in all, it was a very exciting and eventful year for the juniors.

Magazine sales, college part of Senior life

Liz Pearson and Jane Smith discuss college plans and high school problems with Mr. Oberhelman.

Only four years ago the Class of 1969 entered Tipton High School as lowly freshmen and now they are proud to be called alumni of THS. Some things about their senior year will never be forgotten: rushing in the halls to get to class, the spirited pep sessions and the slow walks back to class after a program.

The seniors began their year by preparing for Homecoming with the building of their float and the planning of the class skit. The class worked diligently to make money for the annual trip to Washington, D.C. and New York City by selling magazines.

For most of the graduating class, this year was the best. They were busy with plans for graduation, the senior trip, and the future years. They realized that when they put on their caps and gowns and received their diplomas they left behind them the most valuable years of their lives. They, the Class of 1969, are ready for whatever lies ahead and are grateful to Tipton High for preparing them to meet the future.

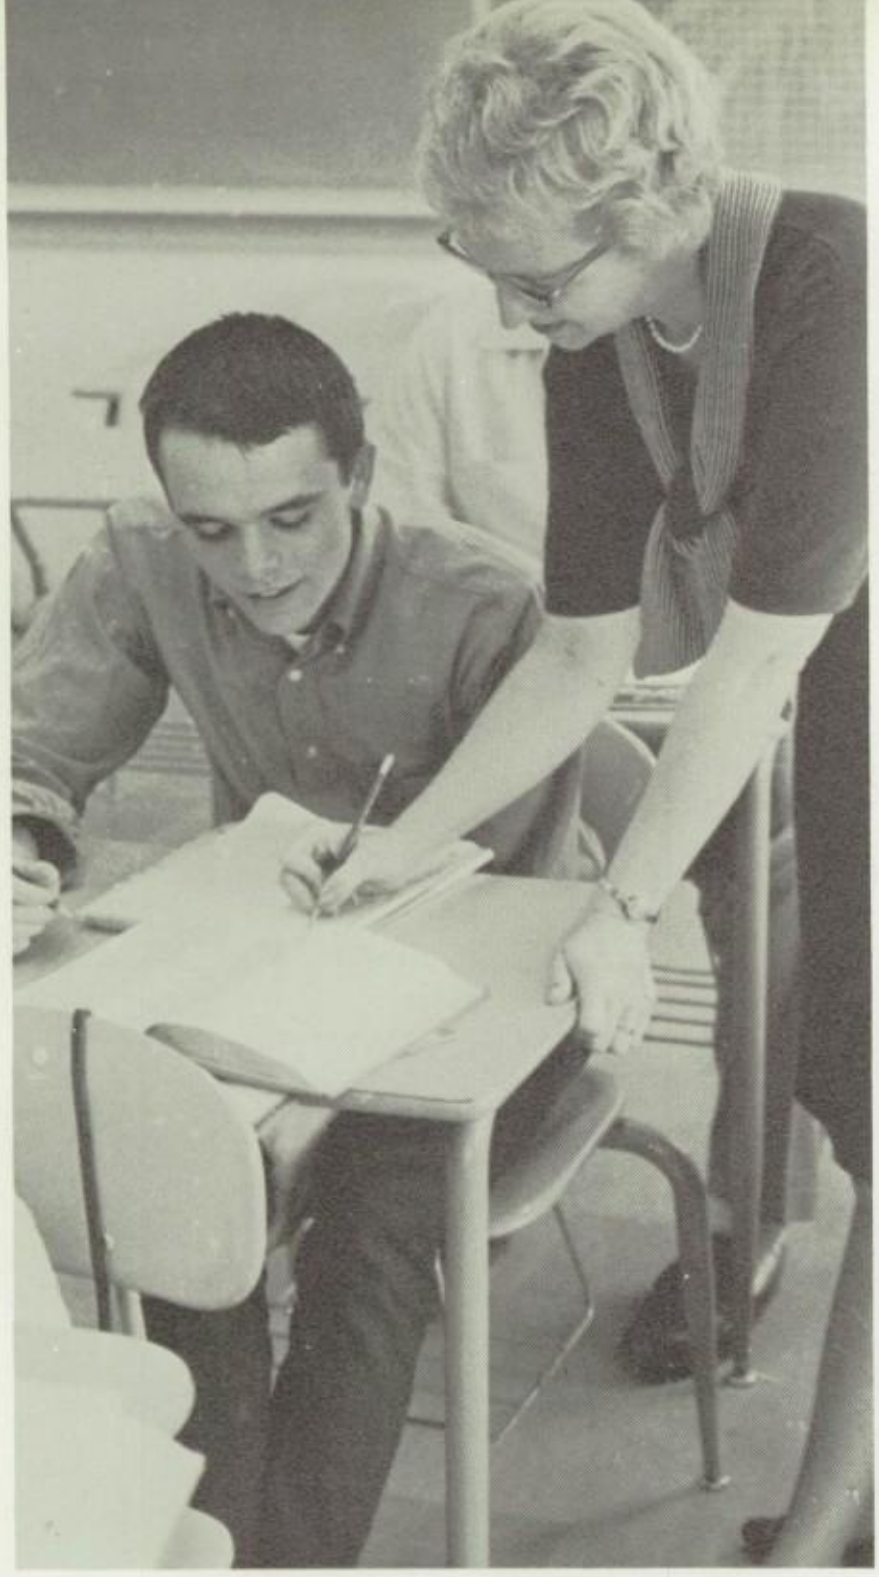
Life at THS proves beneficial to Tiptonians

The 1968-'69 school year was a happening and Tipton High was where it began, proceeded, and ended. Anticipation and anxiety were commonplace feelings in September. The winter months were times of hard study. March brought spring fever and sunny days. May sneaked up with the end.

For some, the year was happy, for others, it was a pastime; but, for everyone, it was a year of their life at THS.



Acknowledgments

Putting the 1969 Tiptonian together was a major job. Without the help of the advisor, William Nelson, Frank Woschitz, the Paragon Press representative, and the entire annual staff the Tiptonian would not be a complete story of the school year which was the goal of the staff.

Mr. Roger Crowell helped the progress of the annual by taking group shots and enlarging pictures. The staff appreciated the help and guidance of everyone concerned.

To Susie,

My fondest wishes and all my love go to you. You are the best thing in this crazy life and you always will be. You fill my life and world with so much happiness and love that I love you so very much. When I think of you & when we're together I feel so good inside. I feel as though we've been together always and by the way we will be together forever and forever. You are the light of my life. You bring my life purpose and meaning. I need you so very much & each day I my life. You are somebody, you're everybody, special to me. I know we'd be together always. You are so wonderful and understanding. You are my dream come true and I'd always be in love with you. I know deep in my heart that God meant us for each other and that our love will endure and is eternal; with blessings from heaven and keeping our love safe; when I hear a soft, sweet song or a little bird sing I love in my mind. our love keeps me going always and gives me I picture our love always and always with a high hope and the strength and endurance to face all problems and trouble with a high hope and a strong determination to succeed. You are in my heart, mind and soul forever. You are on my mind constantly and I love you very much. You are the best thing in my life and I'll never let go of you. Darling, you are a very much a woman and you are a soft, gentle delicate and very wonderful girl - in fact you are a very much a woman and you're my girl and my woman and I'm yours forever. I'm very glad that we are going together and I know we'd always be together. We will soon celebrate our 10 th 11th and many more anniversary and I feel certain will celebrate a 10 th 11th and many more.

With all the well wishes and all the good luck in what ~~any~~ ever you do in the future. With love,

Joe

Hope you and Joe will be ~~bother~~ allways.
Best of Luck
